

English Pronunciation: British vs American English

Level A2 · Lesson 1

Name: _____

Date: _____

Score: _____ / 44

Language Focus: Two Accents, Two Sounds

British English and American English use mostly the same words and grammar, but they often sound quite different. Here are the two biggest differences.

Feature	American English	British English
The "r" after a vowel	Pronounced clearly: car, work, better	Usually silent: ca(r), wo(r)k, bette(r)
The "a" in dance, bath, class	Short, flat sound (like "cat")	Long, open sound (like "ah")

Tip: Neither accent is "correct" — they're just different. Being able to recognise both helps you understand more speakers and choose the style you prefer.

Bonus: some words are just different

A few common words are pronounced completely differently in each accent, regardless of any general rule: schedule, tomato, vitamin, garage, herb. Worth learning individually if you notice them!

Exercise 1: True or False (8 points)

1. In American English, you usually hear the "r" sound after a vowel, like in "sister". True / False
2. In British English, "doctor" usually has a clear "r" sound at the end. True / False
3. In British English, "winter" usually has a silent "r" at the end. True / False
4. In American English, "letter" usually has a silent "r" at the end. True / False
5. In British English, "laugh" is usually pronounced with a short, flat "a" sound. True / False
6. In American English, "answer" usually has a short, flat "a" sound. True / False
7. In American English, "branch" usually has a long, open "ah" sound. True / False
8. In British English, "advance" usually has a long, open "ah" sound. True / False

Exercise 2: Multiple Choice (8 points)

1. Which accent clearly pronounces the "r" in "farmer"? a) British b) American
2. Which accent usually drops the "r" sound in "garden"? a) American b) British
3. Which accent pronounces the "r" at the end of "better"? a) British b) American
4. Which accent usually drops the "r" sound in "tiger"? a) American b) British
5. Which accent says "ask" with a short "a", like in "cat"? a) British b) American
6. Which accent says "castle" with a long, open "ah" sound? a) American b) British
7. Which accent says "staff" with a short, flat "a" sound? a) British b) American
8. Which accent says "glass" with a long "ah" sound? a) American b) British

Exercise 3: Matching (8 points)

Say each word aloud in both accents if you can. Write a or b to show which accent is being demonstrated.

a) American b) British

Word	Accent (a or b)
1. sure	_____
2. can't	_____
3. party	_____
4. plant	_____
5. summer	_____
6. demand	_____
7. order	_____
8. graph	_____

Exercise 4: Word Sort (12 points)

Say each word aloud in both accents (or ask your teacher to say it) before deciding. Write each word in the box for the rule it demonstrates: water, mother, turn, star, dinner, market, half, grass, after, craft, draft, aunt.

R Rule	A Rule

Exercise 5: Gap Fill (8 points)

Say each word aloud in both accents (or ask your teacher to say it) before answering. Write "R" or "A" to show which rule the word demonstrates.

1. "quarter" → _____ Rule

2. "sample" → _____ Rule

3. "worker" → _____ Rule

4. "basket" → _____ Rule

5. "nurse" → _____ Rule

6. "pass" → _____ Rule

7. "purple" → _____ Rule

8. "fast" → _____ Rule

English Pronunciation: British vs American English — A2 — Lesson 1

Exercise 1: True or False — Answers

1. In American English, you usually hear the "r" sound after a vowel, like in "sister". — True
2. In British English, "doctor" usually has a clear "r" sound at the end. — False
3. In British English, "winter" usually has a silent "r" at the end. — True
4. In American English, "letter" usually has a silent "r" at the end. — False
5. In British English, "laugh" is usually pronounced with a short, flat "a" sound. — False
6. In American English, "answer" usually has a short, flat "a" sound. — True
7. In American English, "branch" usually has a long, open "ah" sound. — False
8. In British English, "advance" usually has a long, open "ah" sound. — True

Exercise 2: Multiple Choice — Answers

1. Which accent clearly pronounces the "r" in "farmer"? — correct answer: b) American
2. Which accent usually drops the "r" sound in "garden"? — correct answer: b) British
3. Which accent pronounces the "r" at the end of "better"? — correct answer: b) American
4. Which accent usually drops the "r" sound in "tiger"? — correct answer: b) British
5. Which accent says "ask" with a short "a", like in "cat"? — correct answer: b) American
6. Which accent says "castle" with a long, open "ah" sound? — correct answer: b) British
7. Which accent says "staff" with a short, flat "a" sound? — correct answer: b) American
8. Which accent says "glass" with a long "ah" sound? — correct answer: b) British

Exercise 3: Matching — Answers

sure — a) American can't — b) British party — a) American plant — b) British summer — a) American demand — b) British order — a) American graph — b) British

Exercise 4: Word Sort — Answers

R Rule: water, mother, turn, star, dinner, market

A Rule: half, grass, after, craft, draft, aunt

Exercise 5: Gap Fill — Answers

1. quarter — R Rule

2. sample — A Rule

3. worker — R Rule

4. basket — A Rule

5. nurse — R Rule

6. pass — A Rule

7. purple — R Rule

8. fast — A Rule